BLAIR MAKES BRITAIN

A TERRORIST TARGET

Editorial

Winter 2004

Mysterious naivety

The furore over comments made by the television celebrity Robert Kilroy-Silk has an air of mystery about it. Kilroy's disparaging comments about Arab states is published without complaint but when published for a second time four months later all hell lets loose. Isn't it strange that the newspaper who published the offending article seemed to have changed Kilroy's original target of condemnation from Arab states to Arabs? As a people. Particularly as the owner of the newspaper is Jewish and an ardent Zionist?

Then the unelected Muslim Council of Britain becomes involved although the article attacked Arabs, not Muslims. Remember, not all Arabs are Muslims,

Finally, isn't it sad that an educated man of the world like Kilroy-Silk seems to believe free speech still exists in Britain today? How naïve!

More Mysteries

Conspiracy theorists poured out of the cupboard when it was announced that there was after six years going to be an inquest into the death of Princess Dianna. Most of the conspiracy theories contained accusations of involvement in the Princesses death by British security services. Predictably the establishment closed ranks and assured the gullible public that MI5; MI6 would never get involved in murder.

Really! Then who did murder Rudolf Hess?

A Time for Action

As Britain sinks under the weight of the ongoing tide of immigrants, Asylum seekers and refugees young men in Ulster have began direct action to force the invaders out of the province. On the mainland we have several opportunities this year to fight back through the ballot box. The vast numbers of Asylum seekers and economic refugees still living in Britain is Labour's weak point. Public opinion is firmly against these parasites that come to Britain to milk our welfare system.

Now is the time for all activists to leave their armchairs and really do something positive for Britain. There are several nationalist parties standing candidates in elections later this year, so get out and help.

Remember! "We must secure the existence of our people and a future for white children".

Blair Makes Britain a Terrorist Target

"Not if, but when?" says Police terrorist expert.

The British Prime Minister's actions in supporting George Bush's warped ambitions to be the ruler of the world, and both leaders slavish subservience to the bandit state of Israel has made Britain and her citizens terrorist targets.

Britons have already died in terror attacks against British interests in Turkey and for several weeks now Britain's security services have maintained a state of Code Orange alert, the second highest category of alert which means the possibility of an attack on Britain is HIGH!

Already 90 suspected terrorists have been arrested over the past couple of months in London, Manchester, Dudley, Walsall, Gloucester, Eastbourne Cambridge and Glasgow. Over 500 people have been arrested under Anti-terrorism laws since the attack on the World Trade Centre. Most of those arrested originally arrived in Britain seeking asylum, and in both Gloucester and Eastbourne explosives were found at the homes of suspects of North African origin. One man arrested in London, Sajid Badat is said to have links with another Briton, Richard Reid who tried to detonate a bomb in his shoe on a transatlantic aircraft almost two years ago.

London is suspected of being the terrorist's prime target and vital buildings have had defences reinforced and a series of police checkpoints now surround the Capital's financial district.

Metropolitan police assistant commissioner, David Venness, who heads Scotland Yard's Specialist Operations group has stated publicly that the threat to Britain amounts to "Not IF there will be an attack, but WHEN".

British Intelligence sources have been quoted as stating, "There are several hundred Al Qaida suspects living in Britain".

Most Intelligence analysts now believe that the attack on the World Trade Centre was in direct response for the United States policies in the Middle East. For providing Israel with the largest arsenal in the region, with which it can intimidate its neighbours, and its support for Israel and thus support for the Israeli occupation of Palestine and the repressive measures taken against the civilian population.

In recent weeks the US has cemented the vision of being Israel's co-partner in occupation and terror by supplying the Israelis with a further 100 F16 fighter jets.

The majority of Americans are peace loving, generous and friendly but, their present leadership is probably the most cowardly to have held power in many years. Their subservience to the powerful Zionist lobby in Washington and New York betrays the interests of the American people.

F16 Fighter Jet

Since the Bush administration took power, the United States has been on Code Orange alert five times!

Under "Homeland Security" measures US citizens are now monitored more closely by their own security agencies than Russian citizens were during the dark days of communism.

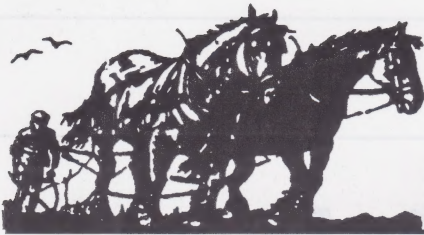

In Britain, Blair and his government have given support to every decision made, and every action taken by the Israeli puppet Bush. Even the recent slaughter in Afghanistan of 15 young children in two attacks by US forces has passed without any public criticism by the Blair regime.

The British people have faced terrorism before. The Marxist IRA could not bring Britons to their knees with their terror campaign. It was the politicians who surrendered, not the people.

"President" Blair

Over 50 British soldiers have already died unknowingly fighting for Israel in Afghanistan and Iraq, and if British civilians are to suffer the same fate then the blood of those innocents will be firmly on the hands of our British Prime Minister.

Top Union Bosses Condemn Israeli Harassment

Two top trade union bosses have condemned Israeli harassment tactics after they themselves became victims of harassment by Israeli occupation troops. Roger Lyons, the former leader of the Amicus trade union and now President of the TUC and Brendan Barber, the current TUC General Secretary, were visiting Israel and the occupied territories when they were stopped and harassed at an Israeli army checkpoint.

Despite travelling in United Nations marked vehicles the TUC party was kept waiting in a checkpoint for several hours before being refused entry into Nablus.

On his return to Britain Mr Lyons said that their treatment illustrated how the Palestinians were being treated every day of their lives.

The Israeli actions came as particular shock to Mr Lyons who is an executive member of the Trade Unions Friends of Israel and has consistently supported Israel both in trade union and Labour Party forums.

"Stop the War" Coalition Are Anti-Semitic Claims Activist

The Socialist Workers Party dominated, Stop the War Coalition, has been condemned as being "tainted by anti-Semitic influences" by a leading member of the rival, Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament.

Mr Jimmy Barnes, secretary of Trades Union CND claims that the anti-war group has suppressed opposition to anti-Semitism in an effort to placate militant Muslims from the Muslim Association of Britain (MAB). With support declining the in the coalition, the trying to form new militant Muslims Labour MP George Galloway to launch a new Unity Alliance Party. To gain Muslim support the SWP have been accused of not only soft-peddling on anti-Semitism but also women's rights.

John Tyndall Reinstated

The veteran nationalist and former Chairman of the British National Party, John Tyndall has been reinstated as a member of the BNP.

In our last issue we revealed that Mr Tyndall had been expelled following a disciplinary meeting and that he had decided to fight the decision in court. Following this decision we are advised that an out of court settlement was reached and Mr Tyndall has been reinstated.

Tory Councillor Defects to BNP

Members of the Conservative controlled Calderdale Council in West Yorkshire were stunned when the Conservative Councillor for Illingworth ward, on the northern outskirts of Halifax, announced that he was resigning the Tory whip and joining the British National Party.

Councillor Geoffrey Wallace (pictured right) claims that he is disillusioned with the Tories lack of opposition against political correctness and quoted the recently introduced, Employment Equality Act, which makes it offence to display religious symbols, such as Christmas cards in a workplace if it is possible that other workers, such as Jews and Muslims could be offended. The new "Kosher" opposition team assembled by Tory leader Michael Howard allowed this ridiculous piece of politically correct legislation to be introduced into law, without even a whimper of protest.

Councillor Wallace told his local newspaper, "The time has come to make a stand against political correctness". Councillor Wallace has also urged other Conservative Councillors to join him in the BNP.

British Jews Form New Lobby Group

A powerful group of British Jews have banded together to form a new Lobby group. The group's grand title is the Jewish Community Leadership Council and although unelected by the majority of Britain's Jews it will claim to represent the views and wishes of its co-religionists.

The group was formed following a secret meeting held at the law offices of Henry Grunwald, President of another Jewish lobby group, the Board of Deputies of British Jews.

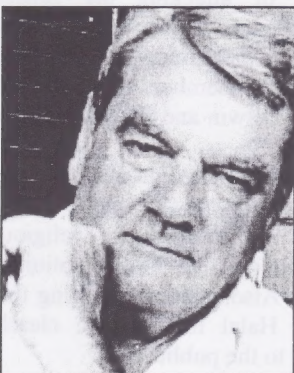

Predictably, Grunwald will chair the new group, and members will include Gerald Ronson the leader of the Jewish paramilitary gang, the Community Security Trust (don't mention prawn sandwiches), David Cohen of the pro-Israeli propaganda and fundraising agency the UJIA (United Jewish Israel Appeal).

To help the group to achieve its aims to "maximize its ability to affect government policy" political heavyweights, Lords Levy and Janner (both elevated to the House of Lords by Zionist puppet Tony Blair) have also been invited into the group, as has opinion maker and BBC governor, Ruth Deech.

The Community Security Trust based at 19 Marylebone Road, London NW1 5JL claimed to have 26 employees and declared a total income of £2.17 million in the last financial year.

David Irving Faces New Court Case

The respected historian and author, David Irving is to face a new court case at which Deborah Lipstadt, whom Mr Irving unsuccessfully sued for libel in 2000, will apply to the court for the transfer to her all of Mr Irving's lifetime possessions. These possessions were seized by High Court bailiffs in May 2002.

Lipstadt's financial backers in her libel case and this subsequent action are believed to include the multi-millionaires, Steven Spielberg and Edgar Bronfman, as well as the immensely powerful and wealthy, American Jewish Congress. On receiving notification of Lipstadt's application, Mr Irving commented, "Nothing surprises people any more in this action. The hatred-filled traditional enemies of free speech are doing all they can to silence me and my writings, but they will not succeed. I have friends too".

Pensioner Sues Police Chief Over St George's Day Poster

A seventy-two year old retired security guard has decided to sue the Chief Constable of Warwickshire for racial discrimination.

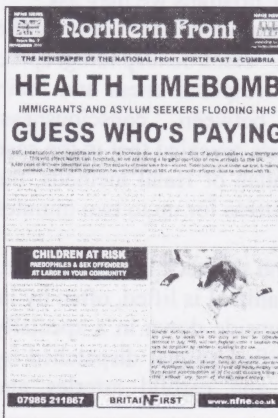

The pensioner, Mr Brian Hadland of Kenilworth is suing the Chief Constable, John Burbeck over the latter's decision to have removed a poster in a newsagents shop advertising a St George's Day event organised by the Campaign for an English Parliament. Mr Hadland alleges that the decision to remove the poster was a case of political correctness and in doing so the Chief Constable discriminated against the English.

Unsuccessful talks have taken place between Mr Hadland and the police but Mr Hadland, still unsatisfied, is to issue proceedings against the police.

National Front Continue Remembrance Day Tradition in London

The National Front maintained its tradition of marching from Victoria Station to the Cenotaph in London on Remembrance Day to Honour British and Commonwealth War dead. The NF, although depleted in numbers from its heyday still managed a respectable number of marchers which were preceded by a colour party.

The National Front started the Remembrance Day tradition over 25 years ago when they marched to honour the war dead of Rhodesia which had been ignored by the official government commemoration on political grounds.

Battle Looms over Ritual Slaughter

A campaign has been launched to bring Britain's laws on the slaughter of farm animals into line with much of Europe, which if successful, would mean the end of the inhumane, and some say barbaric, methods of slaughter used by religious Jews and Muslims in Britain. A propaganda war has already broken out between supporters of the ritual form of slaughter and their opponents and is likely to become even bloodier.

The campaign to end the practice of cutting the animals throat without first stunning the animal is being led by the independent Farm Animal Welfare Council who are urging the government to end the exemption given in the Welfare of Animals (Slaughter or Killing) Regulations 1995 (WASK) to religious Jews and Muslims.

Strangely, the exemption specifically allows animals to be killed by the Jewish method, known as Shechitah, only if the animal is to be used for food by Jews. Similarly the Muslim, Halal method of slaughter carries the same restriction to the exemption. As Jewish dietary laws carry restrictions on which parts of the animal may be eaten, we may wonder what happens to the rest of the carcase. Does meat slaughtered by religious methods end up in the food chain of Christians we may ask?

The FAWC report is remarkably unemotional as it reveals the results of scientific tests using, electroencephalographic methodology which measures brain responsiveness and brain function and the distinction between consciousness, unconsciousness and death. These tests revealed that in the case of adult cattle slaughtered by Shechitah or Halal methods, the animal can suffer severe pain and distress for up to two minutes before becoming unconscious.

In the case of sheep, the fleece around the neck area first has to be cut before slaughter and then the animal is lifted, often by its fleece on to its back and fastened upside down in a specially designed pen. Only then is the terrified animal dispatched by cutting through the jugular vein and carotid arteries and allowing it then to bleed to death.

The tests also revealed that where the animal has first been stunned by the "captive-bolt" method used in non-exempt, non-

Kosher, non-Halal abattoirs, brain function and brain response ceases immediately!

The animal dies as far as can be determined, painlessly and in a split second.

The FAWC's recommendation to government is blunt and uncompromising ... "The Council considers that slaughter without pre-stunning is unacceptable and that the Government should repeal the current exemption".

The FAWC is not the only organisation calling for a ban on ritual slaughter. VIVA, a group of Christian and Jewish animal rights supporters have sent to every MP a copy of a video entitled, Sentenced to Death which was filmed covertly in Kosher and Halal slaughterhouses and are reported to show horrifying scenes of captive animals dying in extreme pain.

The principle opponents of the ban seem to be either Jewish or politicians, and in some cases both.

Neville Nagler of the secretive Board of Deputies of British Jews defended ritual slaughter as a matter of religious principle and the London Jewish News quickly organised a 2000 name petition in support of Shechitah which included the names of several politicians including those of the former Tory leader, Iain Duncan Smith and Mayor of London, "Red" Ken Livingstone.

"Red Ken" has often embraced loony-left causes as well as IRA terrorists condemned opponents of ritual slaughter as "racists". A spokesman explained Livingstone's outburst by saying that the Mayor felt that right-wingers were joining the anti ritual slaughter campaign as a way of attacking the Jewish community. "Red Ken" faces re-election this year and was at the time addressing a meeting of the Union of Orthodox Hebrew Congregations. Prominent members of Michael Howard's new Torah party, Oliver Letwin and Teresa May are also supporters of Shechitah.

We would urge all readers to join this campaign against ritual slaughter. Minority religions must not be allowed to inflict unnecessary pain and suffering on animals on religious grounds. Write to your MP demanding that the exemption to pre-stunned slaughter be repealed. Also, write demanding that meat slaughtered by Kosher or Halal methods be clearly labelled as such at the point of sale to the public.

Your MP can be contacted by writing to... The House of Commons. London. SW1A 0AA.

We would also request that you write to the head office of your local supermarket chain asking if any of the meat offered to sale to the public has been slaughtered by the barbaric Shechitah or Halal method.

Please send us a copy of their replies.

BBC Bows to Zionist Pressure

Regular readers will recall in issue 58 we congratulated the BBC on its refusal to back down to Zionist pressure and cancel a showing of the controversial film "Israel's Secret Weapon", which clearly demonstrated how the state of Israel had added nuclear and biological weapons of mass destruction to its armoury of war. We did however comment that "in the corridors of power BBC executives were exploring moves to appease Israel" and of course, the Zionist lobbyists. Now read on ...

As you were reading issue 58, secret talks had already begun between top representatives of the BBC, Israeli government officials, and mysteriously, members of the Board of Deputies of British Jews.

Just what part the Board played in discussions between what are basically two governmental departments is shrouded in secrecy.

In the aftermath of the screening of Israel's Secret Weapon the Israeli government took the unprecedented step of barring BBC journalists and reporters from attending press conferences and briefings, even extending this ban to briefings held in Britain.

Israeli political leaders including Prime Minister Ariel Sharon refused to give interviews to the BBC.

Although notionally independent, we have learned that the BBC Governors were subjected to immense pressure from elements in the British government, including the Foreign Office "to do something to appease Israel". The Israeli embassy was involved in talks and publicly endorsed the tactics adopted by the Israeli government. So much for free speech!

Israeli officials and the Board of Deputies demanded that in return for the lifting of sanctions against their news teams, the BBC's future coverage of all events in the Middle East must adopt less of a supportive position for the Palestinians and be more supportive of Israel.

To their eternal shame the BBC have agreed!

The surrender came in a short announcement by the BBC's head of the World Service, Mark Byford, and the Head of News, Richard Sambrook that the Corporation had appointed the former editor of the "Nine O' Clock News" Malcolm Balen, "to oversee and monitor its coverage of the Middle East".

The newly created post will of course be funded from our licence fees.

Mr Balen, accepted that his toughest challenge will be, "to persuade people that he was fair minded". (And not a pro-Israeli stooge).

It is not known if Mr Balen is Jewish or not.

Predictably, the Israelis and their Zionist agents in Britain were delighted with their easy victory. A spokesman for the Israeli embassy declared "It seems that the character of our recent relations with the BBC has had its impact". In other words, their bullying tactics along with sanctions have worked!

The victory was also celebrated by Lee Petar the director of the little known Israeli propaganda office the Britain-Israel Communications and Research Centre, which also monitors sources of news which could be regarded as "anti-Israel". In a veiled warning Mr Petar claimed that the BBC's decision "was only a first step".

Just what that implies we have yet to discover!

Alan Aziz of the British Zionist Federation unsurprisingly supported the move as did Neville Nagler, the increasingly high profile deputy-director of the Board of Deputies.

In return for their abject and cowardly surrender, the BBC was rewarded with an interview with the Israeli deputy-Prime Minister, Ehud Olmert which was little more than an Israeli propaganda speech.

The British licence payers, like the Palestinians, have been betrayed.

Colin Jordan takes Government to European Court of Human Rights

Veteran nationalist, Colin Jordan has instituted proceedings in the European Court of Human Rights against the British government. Mr Jordan's complaint is regarding actions taken by the government through the police and Leeds Crown Court following a raid by police on Mr Jordan's home on the 4th of August 1998.

Mr Jordan's complaint encompasses the refusal by the police to return items taken from his house during the raid and, the conditions imposed by Leeds Crown Court and the Crown Prosecution Service in November 2001 that "the defendant does not engage in any political activity".

This condition Mr Jordan maintains violates his human rights under the presumption of innocence in Article 6 & 2 of the Convention and the rights and freedoms of Articles 8, 10 and 11 of the Convention.

The government must reply to the Court by the 2nd of March 2004.

ANTI-SEMITISM: The Holy Grail of the 21st Century

Anti-Semitism: "Hostility toward or discrimination against Jews as a religious, ethnic or racial group". Webster's Dictionary. 1999.

In times past, groups of fanatics, occasionally motivated by the noble cause of religious belief, but more often by sheer greed, searched the globe for the Holy Grail. Their searches over several centuries for the Christian artefact were unsuccessful, and the Grail's history and final resting place, if indeed it ever existed have faded into myths and legends. Today, the new Holy Grail, sought by religious and sometimes racial fanatics is Anti-Semitism, the Holy Grail of the 21st Century.

It is a matter of historical record that there has been "hostility towards Jews as a religious group" throughout Europe since the Middle Ages. Much of this is well documented and in most cases the hostile behaviour towards Jews at that time can be somewhat justified.

Since the twelfth century in various parts of Europe small groups of Jews were accused, and often found guilty, of what is now termed as Ritual Murder. This term refers to accusations that at certain times of the year, but mainly around the Jewish festival of Passover, Jews used the blood of Christian children to make matzoh (unleavened bread) which was consumed as part of their religious festival.

It is recorded that in 1171 in Bois, France a number of Jews were accused of crucifying a Christian child and draining his body of blood. Several Jews were executed for this crime.

Similar allegations appear throughout Europe over a period of several centuries. In Sepulveda, Spain, in 1468 Some Jews were found guilty of crucifying a Christian child at Passover. After a trial conducted by the Bishop of Segovia, who had converted from Judaism to Christianity declared the accused guilty and had them executed.

Perhaps one of the most famous cases of ritual slaughter in mainland Europe was that of St. Simon of Trent. This murder took place in the Italian town of Trent in 1475. The bloodless corpse of Simon, a three-year old Christian child was found in a river, with wounds of circumcision and crucifixion. Seven local Jews were arrested and confessed to the murder stating they used the child's blood to mix with unleavened bread. The case was investigated by officials from the Vatican and the murderers executed. The Pope, Sixtus IV approved the verdict in writing. Understandably, the local population reacted with hostility towards Jews and many innocent Jews were persecuted.

In France, in 1182, King Phillip Augustus bowed to pressure from the Catholic Church and expelled all Jews from the country. Similarly in Spain in March 1492, King Ferdinand and Queen Isabel gave Spanish Jews four months to leave the country.

Middle Age England was not immune from outbreaks of "Anti-Semitism" as events in York in 1190 clearly demonstrate. The behaviour of Jewish moneylenders so incensed the local population that they took their revenge on all Jews by attempting to destroy the entire community. The campaign only ended when surviving Jews who barricaded themselves into a stronghold known as Clifford's Tower came under siege from bloodthirsty locals and many committed suicide. The Tower was eventually captured and the survivors massacred.

Anti-Semitism indeed!

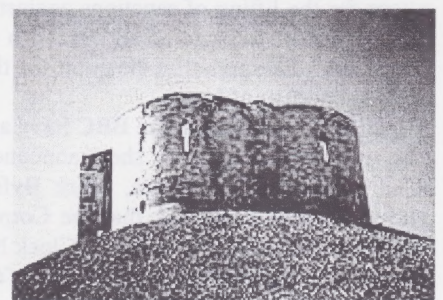

As in Europe, other attacks often followed allegations of ritual murder.

In 1255, eighteen Jews were hanged for the ritual murder of a Christian child, Hugh of Lincoln, and in 1290 at Oxford, a Jew named Isaac de Puleit, was arrested for the murder of a Christian child.

Just a few weeks later King Edward expelled all Jews from England and for almost four hundred years anti-Semitism became extinct!

Anti-Semitic pogroms continued throughout Northern and Eastern Europe over the next several centuries. In Germany, in the early 1920's a political movement was formed which blamed much of Germany's problems, both financial and that of moral decline on the influence of its Jews.

The policies of the fledgling National Socialist German Workers Party, and its charismatic leader, Adolf Hitler clearly identified that they believed that Germany's Jews were corrupting the nation.

Clifford's Tower: York

Continued: Anti-Semitism: The Holy Grail of the 21st Century

In retaliation Jewish organisations throughout the world called for the destruction of the new German ideal.
The rest, as they say, is a mere detail of history!

In the latter part of the 20th Century and the beginning of the 21st any attempts to criticise organised Jewry, the accuracy of the "official" version of the Holocaust or the activities of the State of Israel has led to accusations of "anti-Semitism".

Even a speech to party colleagues by German Christian Democrat MP, Martin Hohmann mentioning the part played by Jewish communists in the Russian revolution of 1917, was condemned as anti-Semitic by the head of Germany's Jewish community, Paul Spiegel, who also registered his complaint with the police.

As a result of the complaint Mr Hohmann was questioned by the police and expelled from the CDU.

The head of Germany's elite Special Forces, Reinhardt Guenzel was also sacked from his job for writing a letter of support to Mr Hohmann.

The Prime Minister of Malaysia, Mahathir Mohamad commented in a speech to a Muslim conference that because of the way Israel is allowed to defy the United Nations and in doing so, defying the whole world, it seems as if "Jews control the whole world". This straightforward and valid comment was formally condemned by the United States, Israel, Australia and the European Union as being anti-Semitic! An unfazed Dr Mohamed replied to the condemnation "the reaction of the world shows that they (Jews) really do control the world".

If Dr Mohamed is wrong about Jews controlling the world, then one place they certainly do control is the United States film industry as International film star Mel Gibson discovered recently. Gibson planned to produce a new and biblically accurate film about the crucifixion of Christ but found that not one of the major film studios would back the venture. Puzzled by the apparent financial blockade, Gibson invested $25 million of his own money to make the film, The Passion of Christ.

A copy of the film was sent to the Vatican and received the approval of the Pope, who is reputed to have said the film "was as accurate as could possibly be". Despite this endorsement

Gibson still found that Hollywood distributors were not interested in distributing the film. Furthermore, powerful Jewish groups demanded to see the film in advance of release and sought assurances from Gibson that he would make changes to the film if it seemed that Jews were being implicated in, or blamed for, the decision to crucify Christ.

Gibson refused his critics advanced viewing and was immediately condemned as being "anti-Semitic".

In Britain, an Oxford University Professor, Andrew Wilkie was suspended from his post without pay for two months and required to undergo equal opportunities training after refusing to accept a former Israeli soldier on to his course. Despite being supported by other academics, including Michael Cohen a Jew, and a leading member of an academic group that opposes Israeli persecution of Palestinians, Professor Wilkie was labelled an "anti-Semite" by several Jewish groups including the Board of Deputies and treated as a pariah by the University authorities.

As you can see, there appears to be a whole new industry emerging with the sole aim of "discovering" anti-Semitism.

The search for anti-Semitism has become the new Holy Grail for bigoted individuals and groups worldwide. The Anti Defamation League, the Jewish Defence League, the Board of Deputies, the World Jewish Congress, these people attempt to become prosecutor, judge and jury, thus turning from being the persecuted to the persecutors.

Intolerance of others rights and opinions by Zionists and some of their co-religionists is growing, and alongside it will grow resentment. A recent poll conducted by the European Union revealed that 59% of Europeans thought "that Israel posed the biggest threat to world peace".

If anti-Semitism really is "the oldest hatred" then isn't it time that the Jewish community looked into its heart to discover why they have been hated and discriminated against for such a long period of time and try to put things right?

Poland Makes Another Attempt to Extradite Israeli Citizen for War Crimes

The Polish authorities are to make a second attempt to extradite from Israel a polish-born Jew, Salomon Morel who is accused of murdering 1,538 German prisoners of war in 1945.

The Poles previously attempted to extradite Morel in 1998 to face charges of murder but the Israeli authorities refused to comply claiming that the statute of limitations for such crimes had expired.

Between February and November 1945, Salomon Morel was in command of a prison camp housing German prisoners of war in Swietochlowice, Poland. The POW camp had originally been established by the Russians army but was handed over to Poland's communist puppet regime in February 1945. It was then that Salomon Morel became camp commander.

Under Morel's command the population of the camp was expanded to include civilian prisoners. Opponents of the new regime and ethnic Germans (Volksdeutsche) were incarcerated alongside captured German soldiers. In total some 4000 civilians and soldiers were imprisoned in the camp during this period. Almost half were murdered!

In 1992, the Katowice, District Committee for Researching Crimes Committed against the Polish Nation began investigating allegations that prisoners in the Swietochlowice camp had been deliberately exterminated.

In 1997, the Polish Legal Bureau issued an international arrest warrant for Salomon Morel accusing him of murdering 1,538 prisoners. The arrest warrant was supported by the District Attorney's office in Dortmund, Germany who had also gathered evidence of atrocities committed by the communists under the command of Morel. By now Morel had fled to Israel and the Israeli authorities were uncooperative refusing to extradite Morel on charges of murder.

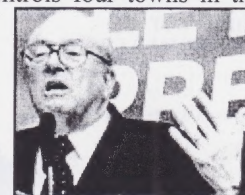

Following new testimony from camp survivors Poland has now upgraded charges against Morel to genocide. There is no statute of limitations on charges of genocide, and Israel will now face the choice of extraditing Morel to face justice or be accused of sheltering a mass-murderer and war criminal.

Le Pen to Stand for Regional President

French National Front leader, Jean-Marie Le Pen has announced that he will stand as a candidate in the elections for the Presidency of the Provence Alpes Cote d'Azur region of Southern France. The FN already controls four towns in the region including Marseilles, where they have introduced policies including the banning of Muslim schoolgirls wearing the Hajib traditional headscarf to school and have prevented schools from offering special meals to Muslim and Jewish students. The leader of France's Jewish community condemned Le Pen's choice of the region on the grounds it is heavily populated by retired French Jews.

South Africa

White South African exiles claim to have discovered a plan for the mass slaughter of Whites living in South Africa.

The plan, codenamed Operation UHURU was originally conceived in the early 1990's by Communist black students living at the time in Russia. It is claimed that the plan was approved by Nelson Mandela during one of his visits to Moscow.

The main target of attack would be Johannesburg. The attacks would be mounted at night from six separate areas surrounding the city. Amazingly, the date of the attack is already planned.

The attacks will take place on the day of Mandela's funeral!

Black members of the South African Communist Party (SACP) have been acquiring and storing weapons, ammunition, hand grenades and incendiary devices in secret arms dumps close to black townships. It is planned to use the township's extensive range of taxi's and minibuses to transport the attackers into the city. The terrorist's logistics experts have estimated that 70,000 attackers could be transported from the townships to the middle of Johannesburg within an hour.

Dozens of country towns and villages will also be targeted and assurances are already in place that neither the army nor police will oppose the slaughter.

Lack of response from the international community over murderous attacks on white farmers in Rhodesia (Zimbabwe) has given the South African terrorists confidence that no outside country will interfere with their plans.

Denmark

Danish Nationalists Win Fight over Radio Station Funding

Danish nationalists from the Danmarks Nationalsocialistiske Bevaegelse (DNSB) are celebrating their victory in retaining state funding for the operating of their not-for-profit radio station Radio Oasen.

The radio station began broadcasting in February 1996 from the Danish capital Copenhagen. In 1999 it moved its headquarters to Greve, some 20 kilometres from Copenhagen so as to give the station a wider audience spectrum. The station has an estimated 200,000 regular listeners despite being restricted to broadcasting for just 12 hours a day. All non-commercial radio stations in Denmark receive state funding and Radio Oasen (Oasis) currently receives 78,000 Danish Krona (about £8000) per year. Representatives from Denmark's Jewish community tried to halt state funding for this year, complaining that the station played Nazi martial music and racist skinhead music. It also complained that the station's operators, the DNSB were using the station to broadcast racist and Nazi propaganda. The Danish Ministry of Cultural Affairs rejected the complaint but promised to examine the whole subject of the state funding next year.

Radio Oasis station manager, Jonni Hansen, who is also the leader of the DNSB has vowed to keep the station's broadcasting format unchanged.

Hate Radio Faces Closure

The Hungarian broadcasting authority (ORTT) are considering closing down the Muslim controlled Radio Tilos after one of its broadcasters, Zoltan Bajtai told listeners to a broadcast on Christmas eve that he "would exterminate all Christians."

In a bid to save their license the station have sacked Bajtai, who they claimed had been drinking on duty.

Australia

Pauline Hanson Wins Appeal

Australian patriot, Pauline Hanson has been freed from prison following her successful appeal against her conviction for electoral fraud.

Pauline Hanson: Justice at last

Miss Hanson, the former leader of Australia's One Nation party was just three months into a three-year sentence after being found guilty of making a false declaration when registering her party in Queensland just before the elections in 1998. Israeli Ambassador Vandalises Artwork in Swedish Museum

In an astonishing display of intolerance and petulance, Israel's ambassador to Sweden, Zvi Mazel was forcibly ejected from Stockholm's Museum of National Antiquities after he violently attacked an artistic display that featured a photograph of Palestinian martyr, Hanadi Jaradat (pictured right). The artistic display featured blood coloured water and a picture of the Palestinian mother of two who sacrificed her life in an attack on the oppressors of her Palestinian homeland. It was created by Jewish artist, Dror Feiler. The incident happened in front of 400 invited guests and the museum's director later commented that the ambassador's intolerance and violent behaviour helped demonstrate Israel's attitude towards Palestinians.

US Navy Veterans Call for a New Inquiry Into Israeli Attack on USS Liberty

US Navy veterans, including surviving members of the crew of the USS Liberty are demanding a new inquiry into the attack on the ship by Israeli forces which left 34 US sailors dead and 172 wounded. The attack took place on June 8th 1967 and a subsequent inquiry ruled that it was a case of mistaken identity. An accident!

The original inquiry findings are being challenged following the recent admission by a prominent member of the inquiry team that the then US President Lyndon Johnson and his defence secretary, Robert McNamara ordered the inquiry to conclude that the incident was an "accident".

Captain Ward Boston now retired, was serving in the Judge Advocate-General's department at the time of the inquiry and became the senior legal council for the Navy at the inquiry.

Captain Boston has signed an affidavit swearing that despite CIA and Naval intelligence reports to the contrary, the inquiry was ordered to exonerate Israel of any intention to attack a US vessel.

The USS Liberty was a WW2 freighter, which had been converted by the US National Security Agency into an intelligence gathering ship packed with electronic interception equipment. Its task was to intercept communications and deliver "real-time" information to Washington. It was manned by 297 sailors and an undisclosed number of security operatives.

At the time of the attack, June 8th 1967 the Arab-Israeli war was under way and Israeli forces were fighting on Egyptian soil. The USS Liberty was cruising in international waters some fourteen miles off of the Egyptian coast and was displaying the "Stars and Stripes" clearly identifying it as a US vessel. The official report makes interesting reading.

At 0800 hours the Captain reported that eight Israeli reconnaissance planes over flew the ship.

At 1400 hours the Captain reported the Liberty came under attack by several planes including Mirage type 3 fighter-bombers. The planes carried Israeli identification markings.

Rockets were launched at the ship, which was also strafed with cannon fire. The attack lasted approximately 15 minutes and left the USS Liberty with eight dead and 98 men wounded including the Captain, Commander William McGonagle.

At 1424 hours several Israeli torpedo boats attacked the US vessel using 20 and 40mm shells.

At 1431 hours torpedoes were fired at the now burning Liberty and one hit was received amidships. Twenty-five more Americans died.

At 1515 hours the crew were ordered to abandon ship. The Israeli torpedo boats fired at the Liberty's life rafts, sinking two.

The attack ceased as abruptly as it had begun and the surviving crew managed to get the Liberty back under control. The badly listing vessel eventually limped to safety in nearby Malta.

The Court of Inquiry was held in Malta. An Israeli representative apologised for the incident claiming they had attacked the Liberty in error, believing it to be an enemy Egyptian vessel. An interesting and as yet unexplained discrepancy was revealed when the Israelis claimed that no torpedo boats were used in the attack. Only fighter-bombers.

This contradicts the report of the Captain of the Liberty who clearly saw torpedo boats attacking and the very clear damage caused to the ship by a torpedo. Amazingly, the Court of Inquiry despite representations by the CIA and the then US Secretary of State, Dean Rusk, ignored these discrepancies.

Now an independent panel headed by Retired Admiral Thomas Moorer, a former member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and including survivors of the USS Liberty and a former US Ambassador, James Atkin are demanding that the original Court of Inquiry findings be set aside and a new Court of Inquiry be convened and monitored by a Congressional committee. The independent panel suggests that Israel intended to sink the Liberty with the loss of all hands. Egypt could then be blamed for the attack with the hope that the US would then enter the war on Israel's side.

Dissident former members of the Israeli secret service MOSSAD have told the panel that the order to sink the Liberty came directly from General Moshe Dayan who believed that the spy ship was intercepting Israeli communications and re-routing them to Syria.

Whatever the motives for the attack the incident needs to be investigated fully and the results published. The casualties and survivors of the Liberty attack deserve justice.

Nothing less will do.

ASYLUM: The Ticking Timebomb

One of the most frequent excuses used by the government to justify allowing hundreds of thousands of economic refugees and asylum seekers to stay in Britain is the falling birth rate of our indigenous population. This, we are told, means that we actually need immigrants to come to Britain to keep the economy flowing. This is only partly true. Britain's manufacturing industry has shrunk dramatically over the past three or four decades, and tens of thousands of jobs in the docks, coal mining and heavy industries such as steel making and shipbuilding have vanished. Any shortfall of labour that we may have in the future will be easily accommodated with labour recruited from the soon to be expanded European Union. Young, White, healthy Europeans from Czechoslovakia and Poland would quickly fulfil any labour shortages in Britain.

But instead, we continue to encourage the pimps and drug dealers, the confidence tricksters and downright parasites from Africa, Asia and the rest of the third world. The impact of this new phase of mass immigration is only now slowly beginning to emerge.

Firstly, all of these new immigrants, disguised as asylum seekers and refugees, are entitled to be housed by the state. It is no coincidence that John Prescott recently announced plans to build 200,000 "affordable" new homes in the South-East of England. This is the very area where most "new" immigrants have congregated. These building plans mean that the face of Britain will be changed forever. Ancient marshland in Essex and Kent will be drained and covered in concrete to allow the building of new homes. Wildlife will be destroyed and amenities lost, all to accommodate asylum seekers. As numbers increase so will the demand for further building programmes and more and more of Britain's "green and pleasant land" be used for building. In fact, it has been estimated that a total of 1.8 million new homes will be needed over the next ten years to house new immigrants to Britain. This in a land where birth-rates are meant to be falling and the population decreasing! In a few months time the expansion of the European Union enters its next phase and with it comes the right of people living in the new EU states to come to Britain, yes, all 73 million of them.

The Home Office has admitted that by the end of this year they expect 200,000 "European citizens" to move into London alone and they cannot forecast when this flood will abate.

In Poland and Slovakia there are 650,000 Roma gypsies living and at least 50,000 have already applied to join the 6000 of their tribesmen currently living in Britain.

Each of these new citizens will be entitled to free housing, free education, free dentistry, free medical treatment and cash payments according to the size of their families. Each new immigrant into Britain is estimated to cost the taxpayer £16,000 in benefits each year. In London schools there were 63,000 children of Asylum seekers at the end of 2003. Most speak little or no English and extra resources have to be allocated to schools so as they can cope.

Already the government is engaged in a propaganda battle to convince the gullible amongst us that the new immigrants bring much needed skills with them. This is not of course the experience that most Britons have already had with new immigrants.

Perhaps they mean skills like those brought to Britain by the Romanian woman who directs a gang of young pickpockets on the London tube system. She has been arrested 12 times to date, but remains in Britain under the recent amnesty given by Home Secretary David Blunkett.

Or perhaps we will benefit from the prostitution and drug rings organised so efficiently by gangs of Albanians in and around London? Will immigrants bring driving skills like those of Kamel Kadri who entered Britain on a stolen passport and despite having no driving license or experience drove a car until he ran down and killed 9-year old Callum Oakford in Sussex? Or Ratnam Yogan a Tamil asylum seeker again with no driving license who killed seven months pregnant Deborah Peaty in a car crash near Daventry. Will their families rejoice and welcome more new immigrants to Britain? I think not! Already in Ulster these new arrivals are being targeted with violence. Will this latest immigrant and asylum seeker invasion be the final straw that sends Britain into a racial civil war?
